Three of a kind . . .

If you have a mass of information to be handled efficiently and inexpensively, these unitized microforms are your answer. Each microform shown carries thirty 8½" x 11" pages of text. The positive microfiche (left) offers quick and easy reader reference. The opaque Microcard® (center) offers two printed sides for double economy, and will not scratch, fade or smudge. The negative microfiche (right) is ideal when extensive reproduction in full-size is required. All three unitized microforms allow individual reports to be filed and retrieved individually. For information on unitized microforms and how they can serve you, contact:

AMERICAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY

THE AMERICAN NUMISMATIC SOCIETY has authorized us to publish the Dictionary and Auction Catalogues of its Library. Mr. Richard P. Breaden, Librarian, has given us the following information:

The Society's Library is the most comprehensive numismatic library in America and compares favorably with the long established ones beyond the Atlantic. It contains 50,000 items — books, periodicals, pamphlets, auction catalogues and fixed price lists — covering every facet of numismatics. Especially outstanding are its collections of numismatic periodicals and of European and American auction catalogues. There is also unpublished manuscript material from the hands of both American and European scholars in a variety of special interests.

In the Library's Catalogue, hundreds of periodical articles and pamphlets are analyzed by subject with the same detail as the books. Every significant numismatic periodical from 1930 on is analyzed, as well as many prior to 1930. The Catalogue also contains references to articles appearing in non-numismatic periodicals. Special items include cards for microfilm copies of books difficult to obtain in original form.

The Auction Catalogue is divided into two sections: American and Foreign. It is arranged by dealer, with entries chronologically under each dealer, and contains additional entries for collector or collections when known.

The 109,074 cards in the Dictionary Catalogue and the 15,246 cards in the Auction Catalogue have been reproduced by offset with 21 cards per 10" x 14" page. Permalife paper, developed by W. J. Barrow under a grant from the Council on Library Resources, was used. Volumes are oversewn and bound in Class A Library Binding, stamped in gold.

This is a limited edition and it is suggested that you place your order as soon as possible to assure availability.
